

Tech Talent Accelerator - Round 3 | Informational Webinar

A webinar will be held on Friday, September 5th at 10 AM about the Tech Talent Accelerator grant program, which seeks to launch its third round this fall, focused on supporting higher education institutions launch or update existing programs to have industry informed AI skill alignment.

Launched in early 2022, TTA has supported twelve business-higher education partnerships resulting in new courses, programs and industry-recognized credentials available to Connecticut's students and workers in fields like cybersecurity, mobile application development, data analytics and augmented/virtual reality modeling.

TTA uses a tested methodology for infusing industry-validated knowledge, skills and abilities and industry-recognized credentials into curriculum and programs to increase the supply of individuals in Connecticut with in-demand tech skills and credentials. TTA grantees also participate in a Community of Practice that provides faculty and their business partners an avenue to network and discuss shared challenges, evaluate emerging skills and industry trends, and hear from experts across the country on topics like micro-credentialing and credit for prior learning.

If you would like to receive the Zoom link for this webinar, please email: caia@theccic.org.